ROOSEVELT HOME.

Something About the Wife of the Vice Presidential Candidate.

DIGNIFIED AND FIRM WOMAN.

As Decided a Character as Her Noted Husband-Youthful Roosevelts Are Brought Up to Hard Work-Summer Home Filled With Collections Gathered by the Governor on His Hunting and Fishing Expedi-

If the Republican ticket wins in November a decidedly new element will enter Washington society through the door of the vice presidency. The social leaders of the capital knew Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt, the wife of the assist-ant secretary of the navy, but the wife of the vice president would be a decid-edly different proposition. Should the question of precedence erise, as was those whose knowledge makes ripened would come first if Roosevelt was vice says the Philadelphia Public Ledger.

There is a fixed impression in the public mind that Mrs. Roosevelt is averse to all publicity, on her own ac-count and for her children. To her, the displaying of her picture in the newspapers, merely as the wife of a prominent man, amounts to notoricty seeking, for which she has a well-bred abhorrence. From this fact many peo-Roosevelt is a timid, retiring woman, household duties. Some have even suspected the governor of being something of a domestic tyrant. Nothing further from the truth could be imagined. Mrs. Roosevelt is almost as decided a character as her husband. She is the Chatelaine of Sagamore Hill, the beautiful Roosevelt home at Oyster Bay, and no apt to forget the dignity and firmness with which she rules over the entire establishment. The governor never dreams of questioning one of her or-

Very Attractive Woman.

Mrs. Roosevelt, who was Miss Edith Kermit Carow, is a young woman still, and a very attractive one. Rather above the medium height, she has a slender, graceful figure, and a fine, intelligent face. She has very bright eyes, and beautiful teeth. Her hair is light brown, and is arranged simply, without a wave or a ringlet. Everything about her speaks of grace. She is an aristocrat to the tips of her fingers. Her manner is that of a gracious lady, tactful, kindly, certain of her rank, but conscious also of the old world obligation of rank. She dresses extremely well.

If the Republican ticket is elected Mrs. Roosevelt will be practically the first lady in the social world of Washington, since Mrs. McKinley's ill health shuts her away from active social du-That she will fill her position in a none will doubt after seeing her. The Roosevelts are not rich, as riches are counted in society. They will not be able to entertain on any great scale of magnificence, but their home in Washington will be as popular as the country place at Oyster Bay has been, and foreign visitors will have an opportunity to see the very best type of an American home.

. Have Five Children.

Of the Roosevelt children, every on knows there are five, one a tall girl, growing into womanhood; three boys and a winning little maid of four years, plainly her father's idol. There is a delightful camaraderie between parents and children at Sagamore Hill. It would probably be impossible to convince the boys that a greater man than their father every existed, but they do not worship him from afar, or treat him with respectful awe. They follow him about with adoring friendship. It was just this relation which existed between the governor and his own father, for whom he was named, and from whom he inherited his virile energy h principles. From him he re ceived that conviction which has shaped his whole career: That the best thing that life offers any man or woman is work, hard work. And it is on this principle that the youthful Roosevelts are being brought up. When the Roosevelt home is spoken of it is understood that the allusion is to the country place on Long Island, and not to the mansion on Madison avenue, Manhattan, which is in-reality, a rented house, and is a recaled for only a few months in the year. At Pagamore Hill the real life of the family is spent There all the children were born, and there the governor keeps his library, his trophics of the chase and all the choic est souvenirs of his varied and pic-turesque career. The place is some three miles outside of the sleepy village of Oyster Bay," and is reached by a winding road, which leads past a number of other time country houses, one of them the residence of the governor's secretary, William J. Youngsell

Roczevelt's Summer Home.

Sagamore Hill is the summit of a lofty height, overlooking the bay sound, and commands a view of sea and field for more than a score of miles. It is not a mansion-not in any sense a showy place-but/rather a spacious house, comfortable and roomy. It is three stories in height, and is in the modified Dutch style of architecture, red shingled and many gabled. The highest gable is ornamented, with a huge pair of elk antiers, and the flag always floats from a tall pole in front of the house. A brond veranda extends around three sides of the house, shaded with vines and foliage, and furnished with inviting arm

Entering the wide door one sees a square hall, almost as large as a room, carpeted with rugs and skins and ornamented with magnificent heads of elk, buffalo and moose. The favorite of both master and mistress of the place is the is a huge fire-place, where, in the cool days of autumn, blaze great logs of Manhattan L. 11 do preferred. surrounding walls are reminders of ranch and hunting lifer horns of moun-tain goat and sheep; prong horn antelope and deer.

Not Many Pictures in the Room There are not many pictures in this oom or anywhere in the house. Some fine engravings of great statesmen-Washington, Lincoln, Hamilton and Grant-and a few good Dutch examples are to be seen, and there are some extremely interesting bronzes, mostly of wild animals, by the American sculptor, Kemys. There are also a number of beautiful vases and reliefs. The books number something like 4,000, but fully half of them are kept in the big gun room at the top of the house. Governor Roosevelt's collection of hunting and out-of-door books without any question, the finest and most complete in this country. He has, besides, a great many valuable historical works and much notable Americana. One notices that all the poets are included. Another attractive apartment is the dining room, which is irregular in shape and furnished in ma hogany. Every room in the house is a living room, and all alike breathe the atmosphere of refinement and culture

A Night of Terror.

"Awfulanxiety was felt for the widow of the brave General Burnham, of Machias, Me, when the doctors said she could not live till morning," writes Mrs. S. H. Lincoln, who attended her that fearful night. "All thought she must soon die from Pneumonia, but she begged for Dr. King's New Discovery, saying it had more than once saved her life, and had cured her of Consumption. FINANCE AND TRADE.

The Features of the Money and Stock Markets.

NEW YORK, Aug. 4.—Money on call steady at 1½ per cent. Prime mercantile paper 4@5 per cent. Sterling exchange firm with actual business in bankers' bills at $4.88@4.88% for demand and at $4 $4@4 $4% for 60 days; posted rates $4 85 and $4 881/2@4 89; commercial bills $4 83@4 8314. Bar silver 60%c; silver certificates 61%@62%c; Mexican dollars 484c. State bonds inactive; railroad bonds steady; government bonds steady.

There was nothing important in to day's dealings in stocks and bonds. The undertone of the market was firm, owing to the scanty offerings of stocks, but the efforts to arouse any speculative a moderate demand for the iron and steel shares, which generally advanced from 1 to 1% per cent, the latter figure representing the extreme gain by Tennessee Coal. The motive of the move-The motive of the movement was the encouraging opinion expressed by the commercial reviews of the week on the conditions in the iron trade. The report of yellow fever in Florida caused heaviness in one or two southern railroad lines and Brooklyn Rapid Transit was affected by reports of labor disaffection. Sugar continued on its course towards recovery and the upward movement in Union Pacific was continued, the other trans-continental rallroads showing some sympathy. The list yielded somewhat on the bank statement, but nothing like important liquidation was in evidence. The closing was dull and rather heavy with the steel industrials and a few other specialties showing the only notable net changes. The growth in banking reserves was less than expected and the loan expunsion made increased reserve requirements, so that the increase in surplus falled to meet anticipations. The reserve item of the banks gains additional importance from the fact that the American subscriptions to the new Britteners. Rapid Transit was affected by report

American subscriptions to the new British war loan are seen to insure an outward movement of gold. Interested bankers estimate that the demand for gold to export on this account may amount to from ten to fifteen million dollars. The exchange market was nominal to-day, but posted rates were advanced ½ per cent.

The stock market has remained in a befogged condition this week, apparently without rudder or compass, so far as the movement of prices has reflected any directing impulse, Changes for the week do not show any new light on the mooted point of what the future level of prices for securities is to be. Uncertainty and waiting are the only deducting and waiting are the only deducting and waiting are the only deductions. mooted point of what the future level of prices for securities? is to be. Uncertainty and waiting are the only deductions to be drawn from the flat, quiet surface of the market. Dealings are on a small scale and buyers and sellers are far apart, as shown by the wide discrepancy in bid and asked prices in many usually active stocks. Bidding is languid and indifferent and holders are firm in their ideas of values.

The resulting duliness can not be interpreted as hopeful for better conditions to come, but the absence of liquidation must be accepted as confidence that the future will be no worse.

The declaration of a 2 per cent dividend on Union Pacific common stock was precipitated quite unexpectedly on the market, the general expectation being that action would be deferred until about the middle of the month. The dividend on Baltimore & Ohio common stock was even a greater surprise.

dividend on Baltimore & Ohio common sock was even a greater surprise. Semi-official assurances had been given of a 2 per cent dividend on this stock for the six months' period, but no intimation had been given of an intention to provide for two dividends and for the payment, of one of them so far in the future as six months.

Dullness in bonds is even more marked than in stocks, the average volume of dealings being considerably less than half those at this time last year.

orders. Wheat was weak, partly on heavy receipts, and closed at %% decline. Corn advanced &c on reports of hot weather damage. Oats closed unchanged. Provisions were still under the influence of the yellow fever scare, and closed 2½,020c lower.
Yesterday's heavy export engagements, which last night were placed at 100 loads, were the influence in wheat trading at the opening, there being no Liverpool market on account of the English holldays. Opening trades were made at a slight advance, September at 75%,075½,c compared with yesterday's closing of 75½,675½,c But the market was not supported. On the contrary, there were plenty of selling orders, principally by yesterday's buyers, and the market soon broke to 75½,c. Business, which up to that point had been moderately active, then died away almost entirely, and the cessation of the selling pressure resulted in another slight advance in September to 75½,c. but after the total primary receipts had been posted the market again turned weak, and remained dull and heavy to the close. Bull traders were apparently, unwilling to hold their wheat over Sunday, and their disinclination was perhaps increased by the weakness shown by provisions. Receipts of new wheat also had their customary effect on trading. The shipping demand was reported slow, while southwest advices predicted large receipts next week September slowly sold off to 74%,675c, and closed at 76c.

Northwest receipts were 227 cars, against 217 cars last week and 240 cars a year ago. Total primary receipts were 1,364,000 bushels, as compared with 675,000 bushels a year ago. Atlantic port elearances of wheat and flour amounted to 330,000 bushels.

with 65,000 bushels a year ago. Attantic port clearances of wheat and flour amounted to 330,000 bushels.
Corn was dull and steady within a moderate range. The opening was at a slight decline, but complaints of damage from hot weather in Kansas and the expectations of a material drop in government crop figures, with a good cash demand, caused enough buying early to send the September price, well above the opening. Later, part of the decline was lost on realizing, but the close was gready. Receipts were 255 cars. September ranged from 26% to 37%c, and closed & higher at 37%c.

Oats were in fairly good demand by speculators and shippers, and the market was firm all day within a narrow range, despite liberal receipts and favorable weather. The cash demand was good atthough the actual bushness done was rather small on account of light offerings. Receipts were 478 cars. September ranged from 21%c to 21%c, and closed unchanged at 21%c.

Provisions were lower from the start, and before the close a material decline had taken place in pork, while lard and before the close a material decline had taken place in pork, while lard followed was recovered late in the cartly decline was recovered late in the session on moderate buying by packers, who reported a good cash demand for means.
